From time to time I have the fortunate opportunity to meet extraordinary people that are able to share their passion in a way that can enlighten and motivate others for a common cause. Barbara Lebo is one such person. The mother of a young man living with autism, Barbara has the knowledge, passion, and energy to teach what she lives.

I believe that anyone who is involved with caring, supporting, and engaging with people on the autism spectrum can benefit from her classes. The dental profession included.
